Retold by Brett Elliot

English story read by Ken Wolt

Translated by Carmen Vallejo

The most famous monsters of all were the Scarers. They worked at a giant factory called Monsters, Inc. It was their job to go to the human world.

There were special doors inside Monsters, Inc. The Scarers used these doors to enter the bedrooms of children around the world. They might go to China, India, Great Britain, or America. The children screamed when they saw the monsters. These screams became the electricity that powered all of Monstropolis.

Los monstruos más famosos de todos eran los Asustadores. Trabajaban en una fábrica gigante llamada Monstruos, S.A. Su trabajo consistía en ir al mundo de los humanos.

Había puertas especiales en Monstruos, S.A. Los Asustadores utilizaban estas puertas para entrar en los dormitorios de los niños de todo el mundo. Podían ir a China, la India, Gran Bretaña o Estados Unidos. Los niños gritaban al ver a los monstruos. Estos gritos se convertían en la electricidad que surtía de energía a todo Monstrópolis.
